Eld. J. T. Sharrard will preach at the Christian church Sunday morning on "Our Personal Relation to Missions." At night the "Young Peoples' Society" will hold an open session from 7 to 8 o'clock. An attractive program has been arranged and all are cordially invited to be present.

Dr. J. S. Coleman is 70 years old. He has been in the ministry 44 years, has baptized 4,712 persons, organized 43 churches, aided in ordaining 44 preachers and dedicated 64 houses of worship. He has always lived in the Green River section, and took charge of his present pastorate in 1869.—Baptist Recorder.

The Register says there were 500 cattle on the market Monday and all sold by 2 o'clock at prices ranging from 1 to 3c. Wagers & Cohen sold 20 900 pound cattle at 3.68 and 14 calves at $14. Carliners & Board bought four mules at $70 to $90.

Jersey Wilkes, W. R. McKean's great stallion, only brought $1,975 at the Terre Haute, Ind., horse sale. He cost $16,000 only a few years ago. The famous brood mare, Eva, who produced three foals that sold for $30,000, only brought $200. She is 18 years old.

Mr. Josh Jones, of Lincoln county, was in this county again the week past, buying cattle. He bought about 60 2-year-olds of Newell Bros., paying 3 to 3½ for them. He calls them extra good cattle, and says he always gives good prices for Pulaski stock.—Somerset Paragon.

John A. Wood, of Garrard, sold to Morris Farris 55 bushels of clover seed, delivered at $4. George Cogar sold to Farris & Whitley 1,000 bushels of shelled corn at 28c at the depot. Farris & Whitley bought privately at Harrodsburg Monday 76 extra 600 to 700-pound cattle at 4c. They also bought of A. G. Whitley 60 picked 2-year-old mules out of his lot of 75 at $30 and will feed them. W. E. Wood, of Camden, Ala., who has handled 150 mules and horses for Farris & Whitley, writes that the season there is closing extremely dull, good mules selling at $35 to $40. Farris & Whitley bought 200 shoats at 3c.—Advocate.

LANCASTER.

Dogs killed several fine sheep for H. C. Arnold last Sunday.

Capt. Mike Salter has returned from Wayne county, where he has been on duty in the revenue service for two months.

Elder George W. Gowen's subject at the Christian church Sunday forenoon will be, "What an Angel Said About the Plan of Salvation."

The hemp combine was broken here on Tuesday. H. A. B. Marksby bought 300,000 pounds of hemp from Capt. L. M. Dunn, Mort and Geo. Robinson and others of the Bryantsville vicinity at $3.25 per hundred. The combine was represented here, but their offerings were too low and they were knocked out. It was the largest deal of the season and the farmers are gratified to know that they may yet receive a fair valuation for their produce.

It would be wise for some democrats to commit David B. Hill's expressions to memory, especially the following: "Conservatism must take the place of radicalism," and, "one issue did not give the democratic party birth and one issue can not destroy it." If these principles are adhered to we can elect county and district officers. We should ignore an issue with which such officers will have nothing to do. The leaders should insist on drawing the lines distinctly and avoid any act or word that has the semblance of a swap, a trade or a surrender of one inch of ground, for any purpose, lest it works mischief and defeat.

Only one bid was laid before the board of city council on Monday night, to light the city by electricity. G. M. Patterson offered to furnish 10 1,200-candle power arc lights and 15, 25 candle power incandescent lights at $750 per year for 10 years. The bid was accepted on a close call, the vote being three for and three against, when Mayor R. Klunaird settled the matter by voting in the affirmative. Those voting in the negative claimed that the bid was low and that a bond should be put up by the bidder to insure the enforcement of the contract. The profits will be derived from lights furnished to stores and residences. It is thought that the plant will be in working order in about three months, when the citizens of Lancaster will enjoy a much-needed improvement.

The fiscal court received the report of the turnpike commissioners last Monday and they were discharged, after which the court adjourned to meet next Tuesday. So what will be done in the matter is not yet known, but the opinion is given that this court will not purchase the roads. Some oppose the purchase on the ground that even if they could levy 25 cents on each $100 worth of property and issue bonds payable in 12 years, the county would be in debt $536 every year for the 12 years, the revenue falling that far short of the cost of the roads and the expense of running them. They report that the roads should cost $32,575 and the repairs $6,000 per annum, or nearly $65 per mile, there being 93 miles. Add to this $750 supervisor's salary, per cent for collecting, $2,754 to the sinking fund each year to pay bonds and other expenses and we have a total of $11,028 annual expenses. The taxable property in 1896 was $4,436,800 and taking that as a basis the levy would only raise $11,092, leaving a debt on the county after levying the tax 12 years. This burden will not likely be placed on the people and there is opposition to buying one road at a time. There seems to be no better way to deal equitably with all parties than to let the matter rest where it is, or legislate so as to raise the money by a poll tax in order to equalize the burden. It is feared by some that the people will make raids on the gates and destroy them, but this is not likely to occur.

Col. W. T. Havens, of the Mt. Sterling Sentinel-Democrat, who has for years carried the editor of this paper general for a reason that we do not recall, is moved to say: The Stanford Journal editor, Gen. W. P. Walton, has been sued for publishing a news item and the damage has been laid at $5,000. That plaintiff is a sweet-scented shrub and ought to be heavily fined for annoying the general.

Last Sunday's Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune contained a double-column cut of the individual mentioned below, which causes Laurie Blakely to enter this protest: The Commonwealth is prepared for anything from the Commercial Tribune, but when it prints a cut of a handsome young man with eagle eyes half scared out'n his head and palms it off as W. P. Walton, of the INTERIOR JOURNAL, the time has come for the bitterness of kicking to pass.—Covington Commonwealth.

The Grand Army is dying at the rate of 100 a day. Every 15 minutes of the 24 hours the final tap sounds for some one who wore the blue. But all the same the pension roll is increasing, at $70.

It is stated that an actual majority of the recent "Congress of Mothers" in Washington were unmarried women. It has often been observed that those who have no children know how children should be reared far better than do those who have them.—Western Recorder.
